DERNA CAPTURED EIGHT DAYS AFTER FALL OF TOBRUK: ARMY OF NILE PUSHING ACROSS DESERT ON TO BENGHAZI

Surprising Turn In North African Offensive

GENERAL WAVELL'S FORCES HAVE OCCUPIED THE LIBYAN PORT OF DERNÄ, STATES A LONDON MESSAGE.

This was announced in an official communique published in Cairo which laconically stated: "The capture of Derna was completed this morning."

The communique from Cairo also mentioned the situation on the other African fronts as follows:—

ERITREA: Concentrations of our forces are proceeding smoothly in spite of difficulties which have been overcome.

ABYSSINIA: Intensive patrolling continues.

ITALIAN SOMALILAND: Advance patrol activities are continuing unabated.

The capture of Derna was achieved only eight days after the fall of TOBRUK. There are no indications yet of the number of prisoners taken or the quantity of war materials seized.

The British offensive in North Africa has taken a new, and surprising turn, states a London message.

General Wavell's Army of the Nile is pushing across the desert towards BENGHAZI, the second largest town in Libya. Detached forces are taking the short cut across the bulge on the coastline and are meeting with some opposition from Italian concentrations of considerable strength including about 80 tanks.

Australian troops have been sent to deal with MAKELE, a fortified post south of Derna, which it is believed, will fall in a few days. For the first time Italian fighters and bombers are being used in an attempt to stem the British advance. In an air fight, four Hurricanes shot down three Italian planes and another machine of a new type.

A few miles south-east of Derna fourteen Italian planes were found damaged as the result of a raid by the R.A.F.

The successes in Libya have been so great that some of the forces which fought in Sidi Barrani are now in Eritrea. Tobruk, which was captured last week, is already serving as a base for our forces. Seventeen Italian ships are lying in the harbour. The Italians left large quantities of munitions, petrol and medical stocks.

STRONG PATROLS

Meanwhile, strong patrols from Kenya are operating at many points inside Italian Somaliland where the relentless pressure of British air power is backing up the offensive.

It is added that the arrival of German planes in the Mediterranean has made a difference to the strategic situation in North Africa. The Germans have their eye on Gibraltar.

S.A. PLANES ACTIVE

South African planes were reported to have dropped bombs on Aoyale, according to a message from Saigon yesterday.

The British are also stated to have found eleven disabled Italian planes at the Italian aerodrome in Massawa.

According to a report from the R.A.F. headquarters in Cairo, only

Electric Current To Oslo Cut

SHORTAGE OF FATS IN DENMARK

In spite of the presence of Herr Himmler, the Gestapo Chief, in Norway, the electric current to Oslo was cut and prevented a German broadcast.

This was revealed by Mr. Ronald H. Cross, Minister of Shipping, when he broadcast to North America.

Mr. Cross stated that in Germany imported labour was already ten per cent of the conscripted labour. Norway must now send Germany more food than she should, supply and have to pay over three per cent of her income as the occupation bill.

CIRCLE OF SLAVES

The same applied to Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and France. All these countries have become servants of Hitler's vast circle of slaves. The wheels of Hitler's juggernaut were rarely turning.

But the Germans were not having things all their own way.

There was a shortage of fats in Denmark and Danish mothers have been told that to use soap for the removal of dirt was unhealthy and that babies should be soaped only once a week.

In occupied France, the French would not move a finger to help. Train services have been considerably cut and only 25 per cent of those running before the war are in operation now.

WILHELMSHAVEN HAS 42ND RAID

A small force of British bombers on Wednesday carried out the 42nd raid on Wilhelmshaven since the war began. All the aircraft returned safely.

German dock workers, the London message added, would recall Admiral Raeder's words in his speech at Kiel.

NEW PUISNE JUDGE FOR COLONY

MR. P. E. F. CRESSALL, M.C., President of the District Court in Jaffa, Palestine, has been appointed as Puisne Judge, Hongkong, in succession to the late Mr. R. E. Lindsell.

The appointment has been approved by His Majesty the King, states an official notification by the Secretary of State for the Colonies contained in a Press communique issued by the Colonial Secretariat, Hongkong, yesterday evening.

It is added that leave for Mr. Cressall to South Africa, en route for Hongkong, is under consideration.

Mr. E. H. Williams has been Acting Puisne Judge since the late Mr. Lindsell went on leave. Mr. Lindsell died in South Africa towards the end of last year.

GERMAN GUNS IN ACTION

German long-range guns, firing from the French coast, went into action on Wednesday night and early yesterday just before day-break, states a London message, which adds that no casualties or damage had been reported.

HITLER WARNS AMERICA: EUROPE WILL RESIST AN INTERVENTION ATTEMPT

"Whoever wants to help Britain must remember that every ship that comes near our torpedo tubes will be torpedoed."

"IF AMERICA IS THINKING OF INTERVENING IN THE EUROPEAN CONFLICT OUR AIM WILL BE CHANGED AT ONCE. Europe will resist such an attempt."

Thus declared HERR HITLER in his speech to the German nation yesterday on the occasion of the eighth anniversary of the Nazi regime.

The German Fuehrer spoke in the Berlin Sport Palast, states a London message.

The main subject of his speech was democracy the idea of which he dismissed with his usual scorn. Hitler was specially contemptuous of the former German idea of democracy. German democracy, he said, was a miserable conception and National Socialism had conquered democracy.

GOEBBELS' ADDRESS

At the meeting, Dr. Goebbels, the Nazi Propaganda Minister, who was there with the Chiefs of Staff of the German Army, Navy and Air Force, addressing Hitler said, "We know that difficult weeks and months are ahead of us but you, my Fuehrer, can rely on the German people."

Reuter adds that Hitler was given a prolonged ovation.

Hitler, earlier in his speech, said that American scholars, entrusted by President Roosevelt with the task of examining the causes of

This spring we will begin U-boat warfare.

There will be no Grand National this year, according to a London message.

The death has occurred of Dame Elizabeth Mary Cadbury, D.B.E., M.A., J.P., at the age of 75, states a London message.

SIXTEEN THOUSAND ITALIANS CAPTURED IN ALBANIA WAR

Papagos Message Of "Carry On" To The Greek Fighting Forces

THE GREEKS HAVE CAPTURED 16,000 ITALIAN PRISONERS IN THE WAR IN ALBANIA, STATES A LONDON MESSAGE.

The latest Greek communique is contained in three words, "Restricted local operations." Italian tactics of fierce counter-attacks have definitely failed and General Cavallero is waiting for reinforcements to replace heavy losses.

Two more Italian planes were shot down by the Greek air force and one by a British fighter.

GENERAL PAPAGOS, in an order of the day, on the death of General Metaxas, to the Greek Army, stated "Carry on with the same iron will and inflexible efforts for the defence of the liberty and integrity of this dear country. The only thought to guide us is every one for the war until final victory is won."

The body of General Metaxas is lying in state and the funeral will probably take place today (Friday).

Japan's Condition For Mediating

USE OF CERTAIN CAMBODIA PORTS FOR HER FLEET

A report which reached London from Vichy and which was given in a message from Sydney yesterday stated that JAPAN'S condition for mediating in the truce between INDO-CHINA and THAILAND was that her Fleet would be allowed to use certain ports in CAMBODIA.

Vichy's answer to this has been to ask for a further explanation of this demand.

Armistice negotiations between Thailand and French Indo-China began at 6 p.m. KUNGPAPAO this morning.

Japanese aircraft, meanwhile, yesterday aboard a Japanese warship off Saigon, says a Saigon dispatch to the Domei Agency, according to Reuter.

Following a brief speech by Major-General Raishiro Sumita, Chief of the Japanese military mission and Chairman of the Japanese delegation to the talks, the delegates had half-an-hour's exchange of views and adjourned.

It is expected in Tokyo that frontier demarcation will be discussed but the first question is likely to be Thailand troops now in Indo-China.

ENTIRE DIVISION

CHUNGKING, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—The entire division of the third Japanese mechanised division, after their arrival at Hainan Island, proceeded to French Indo-China while the Japanese Second Fleet sailed southward from Saigon, says the Chinese daily TAI-KUNGPAPAO this morning.

Britain Still Main War Front

GERMANY MUST GET MILITARY DECISION THIS YEAR

BRITAIN IS STILL THE MAIN WAR FRONT AND GERMANY WILL MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO OBTAIN A MILITARY DECISION THIS YEAR, is the view officially expressed in London, according to a message from the British capital.

Lord Delaware, Assistant Commissioner of South-East England, in a statement, warned the people that if invasion came it would be on such a scale that no part of the country would be unaffected.

That was why every town and village was ready to do its task in meeting and repulsing the enemy.

From America it is reported that Mr. Henry Stimson, U.S. Secretary for War, has expressed the view that ultimate British victory is certain.

An attack on Britain early in February is expected by competent observers at Vichy, says the NEW YORK TIMES correspondent in Vichy, according to Reuter.

He says the currents and tides in the Channel are more favourable than at any other time of the year.

Travellers arriving in unoccupied France from Holland and Belgium, he says, confirm reports of intensive preparations of all kinds.

He adds that there is much talk of new engines of war, both for use in the air and on the ground.

SOCCER REVIEW

GOOD FARE PROVIDED
IN CHARITY MATCHESWeak Navy Attack: O'Regan
And Roughley To Fore

BY "PILAT"

Though local soccer fans were robbed of the pleasure of witnessing an Interport match over the Chinese New Year holidays, good fare was provided by the charity games that were arranged.

Indications that the CHINESE will have a clean sweep again this year did not come true as, on Monday, the strong Chinese eleven suffered their second major defeat of the season at the hands of ARMY in the LAI WAH CUP series. It will be recalled that CHINA was eliminated from the Sunday Herald International Charity Cup by SCOTLAND on Christmas Day by the odd goal in eleven.

On Tuesday, however, South China regained what prestige that had been lost by convincingly defeating Royal Navy in the Kowloon Cup competition by three goals to one. Incidentally, in doing so South China once again demonstrated that, despite the fact that they have only four or five of last season's championship-winning line-up, they are still the premier local soccer club.

This defeat must have been a hard pill for the Navy to swallow in that it followed closely their defeat two days previous in the Lai Cup by the Civilians. It must be stated in fairness to the Senior Service that they were forced to make three changes in their line-up. They had to bring in junior players to fill in the gaps and this did not help matters as, in all three cases, these players were round wanting though they never stopped trying.

WEAK ATTACK

The Navy men were weak in attack and in the middle where Hazard was the only one who could be said to be up to standard. The Chinese, on the other hand, were strong in every department—as good in attack as in defence. That the Chinese did not win by a bigger margin Navy had Robinson, Roughley and O'Regan to thank. These players were ever a thorn in the Chinese attack and constantly came to the rescue when the Chinese looked like putting in another goal.

Another factor that directly brought about the failure of the Navy attack was the lack of cohesion between the halves and forwards who had to go back to forage for the ball.

The Chinese forwards were in fine fettle, every player putting in his share of work. Lee Tak-kee was seen in many fine dashes down the wing but these would have come to a better end if he had not tried too many long range shots himself. Lee Wai-tong's scheming was very much to the fore and he crowned a good afternoon's work with a "hat-trick."

LAI WAH CUP

Good football was seen in both of the Lai Wah Cup semi-finals as the result of which Army will meet Civilians in the final.

A great contribution—and a pleasing feature too—of Army's achievement in defeating the Chinese was the fine displays by Army junior players, three of whom were being given their first chance. Birrell, at right-half, was very sound despite the fact that he had the elusive Hau Ching-to to look after. Owens and Duffield were seen to good advantage, on the wings while Weir fitted in well into the attack.

The strongest department in the Army team was the intermediate line whose fine spilling work and fast tackling methods had the Chinese forwards so disconcerted that they were given little time to settle down to their usual type of game. The two wingers were not so much in the picture, especially after Chung Yung-sum received a slight injury, and did not prove as such a great asset as previously.

On the run of play Army thoroughly deserved to win, matching the Chinese man to man; even their front line eclipsed their opposite number with some really brilliantly conceived movements. Fox, the leader, was rather selfish but redeemed matters by netting a grand "hat-trick" during extra time to give Army victory.

FOWLER'S SHOOTING

In the other semi-final in the Lai Wah Cup Civilians defeated Navy more easily than was thought. This was made possible by the fine shooting form shown by Fred Fowler who netted four times for his side, Civilians eventually winning by 4-1.

The forwards were again Navy's failure. Against the bold front put up by the Civilians' defence, Navy's forwards came a cropper. Hendy and Le Page tried hard to get the line moving but against the resolute tackling of Pope, Gough and Maxwell, the opposite halves.

Roughley and O'Regan, Navy's backs, put everything they knew to stem the tide, but found that the little more work imposed on them by the weaknesses of the halves too much for them.

LEAGUE GAMES

Three postponed matches in the League were played on Saturday and results went as expected.

Despite their great attempts at emulating their feat earlier in the season Police, after holding Sing Tao to a goalless draw at the interval, finally went down by two clear goals. They employed the same methods which proved highly successful in their first game but gradually wearing down Police resistance Sing Tao soon gained the ascendancy though their forwards had to work hard for it.

Running quickly into a lead of two goals Club could not maintain this and allowed Royal Scots to run out winners by six goals to four, while St. Joseph's received their worst beating for a long time when they were trounced by Kowloon to the tune of nine-nil.

STORY OF MERCY DASH TO SAVE
LIFE OF MISSIONARY

An all-night ride over the perilous mountain roads between Baguio and Lubuagan to perform an emergency operation by the light of flashlights recently saved the life of the Rev. E. J. Nagel. It was revealed recently to the Manila Bulletin by the Rev. Carl M. Eschbach of Baguio.

Eschbach received a telegram from Lubuagan asking for immediate medical attention for the Rev. Nagel, who was suffering from a severe attack of appendicitis. No medical facilities for an appendectomy were available in Lubuagan, and the missionary faced death unless an operation could be performed.

READY TO START

Hurrying down the Naguilian road to San Fernando, Eschbach enlisted the services of Dr. M. T. Viduya, director of Bethany hospital in the La Union capital. Said the Baguio Evangelical minister: "By eight o'clock we were ready to start from San Fernando for the trip to Lubuagan by way of Cervantes and Bontoc. Our party consisted of Dr. Viduya and his wife, Miss Marcela Cabrales, Dr. H. W. Wildcocks, and a driver.

"We carried all necessary materials for the operation we thought would be needed. We travelled all night, stopping frequently along the road to allow some members of the party to recover from the seasickness which rapid travel over mountain roads frequently produced."

IMMEDIATE AID

When they arrived at Lubuagan, at 7 o'clock the next morning, the mission was preparing to send a second telegram urging immediate aid, for the Rev. Nagel was suffering from another severe attack. Doctor Leon Diy, the Kalinga health officer, had given the case his closest attention but could do little without equipment.

Continuing the story, "After consultation it was decided to hold the operation in the dining room.

DISCOURSE ON SPIRITUALISMY'S MEN'S CLUB
TIFFIN

An enlightening talk on Spiritualism was given by Mr. K.S. Fung at the weekly tiffin meeting of the Hongkong Y's Men's Club at St. Francis Hotel yesterday. Mr. Ho Shiu-que, President of the Club, was in the chair.

The Vice President of the Club began by saying China was practising numerous ways of spiritualism, of which one was coconomaney. Another popular kind was through a medium by which direct conversation with the spirits could be obtained.

The speaker warned his audience not to believe or depend wholly on such seances.

The speaker was thanked by Mr. C.P. Wong.

Miss Sin Miu-ching, sister of Mr. Peter H. Sin, will speak on the Chinese Navy at the next meeting of the Club.

Willkie At T.U.C. Confab On Mobilisation Of Labour

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—After dining with the entire British Cabinet at a reception given by the Minister for Aircraft Production (Lord Beaverbrook), Mr. Wendell Willkie started the third day of his whirlwind inspection of London at war with undiminished energy.

DERNA GARRISON SURROUNDED

BRITISH ARTILLERY POUNDING SEAPORT

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—It is learned in authoritative circles that the Army of the Nile has now surrounded the important road junction of Mekelle south of Derna.

There is reason to believe that Italian troops cut off here comprise the remnants of the two divisions which retired from Sidi Barrani as well as a certain number of tanks and armoured vehicles.

The British advance is being facilitated by our possession of Tobruk as an advance base. There is a good supply of water at Tobruk and there are also large quantities of petrol that the Italians had not the time to destroy. With the air resounding to the thunder of artillery, the British Imperial troops drawn up round Derna are sending out extensive patrols to probe the position of the Italians defending this small Libyan seaport.

FRENCH COMMUNIQUE

The recent raid into Italian Libya by the Free French forces is the subject of a communique issued by General de Gaulle's headquarters.

The communique states: "In the course of January, elements of our troops in Chad, acting under the command of General de Larminat, carried out a deep raid into Libya in the region of Fezzan. Our troops reached and destroyed the base at Murzak and carried the post at Gatrun, inflicting on the enemy serious losses in men and material. Several Italian planes were destroyed on the ground."

The communique adds that General de Gaulle has conferred the Croix de l'Ordre de la Libération posthumously upon Lieut. Col. Dornano, commander of the detachment, who was killed at Murzak.

The first morning meeting was with Sir Andrew Duncan, Minister of Supply, who is responsible for Britain's war production. After this he dashed back to his hotel to deal with a mass of correspondence also squeezing in a long talk with Professor Laski, one of the Labour Party's leading brains "behind the scenes."

The high spot of the day was Mr. Willkie's arrival at a meeting of the Trades Union Congress General Council, who were discussing the Government's manpower mobilisation scheme. Sitting by the side of the T.U.C. Chairman (Mr. Gibson), Mr. Willkie listened in to the discussion.

"They are a grand bunch of fellows—very intelligent and alert. I found myself in complete agreement with their aspirations and purposes," he said afterwards. Luncheon was at the Savoy Hotel with Sir Robert Kindersley Britain's war-saving propaganda chief, and a party of big businessmen.

WOMEN DEMONSTRATE

A party of fur-coated and smartly dressed women who attempted to stage a Communist interruption were rapidly evicted almost before Mr. Willkie arrived.

Later Mr. Willkie visited Polish Headquarters, meeting General Sikorski, the Polish Prime Minister. "My sympathies are 100 per cent. with the Polish people," he said on leaving to return to his hotel where he had an interview with the Chinese Ambassador.

Mr. Willkie is using all ration cards and police permits which foreign visitors to this country are obliged to have. They have been given him at his own request as he is anxious not to receive unwarranted privileges.

(The proposed visit to Erie is not yet definitely fixed)

NIGHT AIR WAR LULL BROKEN

Fire Bombs Showered On Metropolis

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—The 10 days' lull in the night air war over London was broken by an early alert last night shortly after which heavy gunfire was heard in the central districts.

The raid was over before midnight.

Incendiaries were showered on several parts but everywhere fire watchers were ready to deal with them.

Elsewhere in the country activity was again slight.

DOVER SHELLED

The night was also marked by shell-fire from German long range guns across the Channel. A number of shells fell on Dover at irregular intervals but no casualties were so far reported.

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—Hitler and Petain may meet again shortly, according to the Ankara radio, which declared last night that there were "certain persistent reports" suggesting such a move.

TRIBUTE TO METAXAS

ATHENS, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—A tribute to General Metaxas as one of the "illustrious figures of Greek history" is paid by King George in a message to the Greek nation.

"With the aid of God," King George said, "Greece will live and triumph—worthy of our great ancestors, worthy of our heroes and martyrs."

"VICTORY FIRST"

"Victory First" is the watchword of the new Greek Government set forth in a Proclamation issued last night.

The Proclamation affirms the certainty that the fight will be carried to a victorious end and declares the Government, at the desire of the King, "takes up the heritage of continuing the magnificent work of the man who has gone."

NAZI ARMY OF OCCUPATION

DUTCH TO PAY FOR COST OF UPKEEP

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—The threat of a forced loan to meet the cost of the German Army of Occupation in the Netherlands is made in the prospectus of 500,000,000 guilder, four per cent. ten year loan to which the Dutch are being asked "to subscribe in order to finance the increased state expenditure, due to the fact that the Army of Occupation costs the Dutch people millions of guilders a week."

According to news received in Dutch circles in London, the prospectus threatens that in case of non-subscription a compulsory 40 year annuity-levy at 2½ per cent. will be enforced.

Heavy R.A.F. Attacks On Italian Air Bases

NEW ENEMY BOMBERS ENGAGED BY BRITISH FIGHTERS

CAIRO, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—Heavy bombing by the R.A.F. of Naples and Catania aerodromes as well as a railway junction and marshalling yards on Monday night were the high-spots in the R.A.F. Middle East Headquarters communique.

It states that "during the night of January 27, bombers of the R.A.F. carried out a raid on the Capodichino (Naples) aerodrome. Bombs fell on a large building, setting it on fire, and other fires were started in the aerodrome."

"The central railway station and a marshalling yard at Naples were also attacked: fires and a violent explosion being caused between the station and the junction. The same night, the Catania aerodromes were raided, bombs bursting on the main runway and among the buildings on the south side of the aerodrome."

"Comiso was also visited and bombing there started fires among the buildings, which were followed by six violent explosions which were seen by our aircraft raiding Catania."

ITALIANS STRAFED

"In Libya, air activity was mainly confined to protective fighter patrols for our advancing troops and ground strafing of the retreating enemy between Derna and Barga."

"On the Martuba landing field, eleven Savoia bombers were found abandoned in an unserviceable condition. Three enemy fighters discovered nearby were also damaged by our earlier bombing and machine-gunning of the aerodromes."

"In Albania, fighter aircraft on patrol in the Kelcyte area encountered a number of enemy aircraft and several were damaged. An important railway bridge and railway junction west of Keren, Eritrea, was successfully attacked."

SUPPORT FOR OFFENSIVE

"General air support was given our troops in their offensive in the Agordat area."

"Aircraft of the South African air force on January 27, carried out raids in the Moyale area and many high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped. The result was not observed owing to the weather conditions."

"Reconnaissance flights were made on all fronts."

"From all operations our aircraft returned safely. In the communique on January 21 it was stated that one of our fighters operating in Libya was missing. It is now known that the pilot of this machine made a successful parachute descent and was subsequently found with only minor injuries."

DOWNED IN FLAMES

ATHENS, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—A British fighter patrol has just fought an engagement with a formation of Italy's latest bombers over the southern Albanian front, one enemy bomber being shot down in flames.

The British patrol suffered no loss.

The headquarters of the R.A.F. in Greece states, "A formation of our fighter aircraft on an offensive patrol in southern Albania yesterday encountered a number of enemy bombers—Cantax 107 and Breda 20 types. Our aircraft at once attacked and shot down one enemy bomber in flames while several others were damaged."

"The enemy formation was broken up successfully and deflected from its target. All our aircraft returned safely."

CANTAX BOMBER

The Cantax 107 is one of Italy's latest bombers. Its range is reported to be 3,000 miles. A three-engined machine, it has a top speed of 230 miles per hour.

The Breda 20 is not listed here but it very likely is the new Breda "Picchiatelli" dive-bomber with which the Italian air force hoped to emulate the deeds of the German Junkers 87 dive-bomber. Its speed is 250 miles per hour and its bomb-carrying capacity is 2,200 pounds, similar to the Nazi aircraft.

LIMITED POWERS FOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—The House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee, in a secret session yesterday, fixed a time limit expiring June 30, 1943, for the President's Lease and Lend Bill.

The amendment, as approved, specifically forbids the use of United States warships on convoy duties.

The Committee inserted in the Bill provisions prohibiting the President from dispatching war material to Britain without consulting the Service chiefs.

Periodical reports must be submitted to Congress on the working of the measures.

U.S. NAVY BILL PASSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (Reuter).—A Bill authorising the allocation of $909,000,000 for expanding naval construction facilities and building 400 small navy craft was passed by the Senate yesterday and sent to the White House.

Minesweepers and submarine chasers are included among the craft to be built.

COMMONS QUESTION ON PEARL RIVER SHIPPING

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter).—A laconic "Yes" was Mr. R. A. Butler's answer to the question whether the situation of the British concession in Tientsin was now satisfactory and whether Britons were able to pass unhindered between the Concession and the adjacent occupied territory.

Sir John Wardlaw-Milne asked whether British shipping was now allowed access on the Pearl River to Canton.

Mr. Butler said that there was a weekly service. Difficulties had arisen in connexion with quarantine regulations and pilotage fees but they were under negotiation.

Capt. Alan Graham asked what Japanese restrictions were placed on exports and imports of the occupied parts of China and to what extent such restrictions affected British trade.

Mr. Butler outlined the restrictions in north, central and south China, and added that British and other foreign merchants were being severely affected by all these measures.

Mr. Robert Morgan asked whether there was any improvement to report in the facilities allowed British shipping at coastal ports, especially Tientsin and Chefoo.

Mr. Butler said that Mr. Eden, the Foreign Minister, was calling for a report on the latest situation as it affected British shipping facilities in North China. A report was also called for on the subject of British shipping in inland waterways other than the Yangtze.

DUKE OF GLOUCESTER APPEALS FOR SUPPORT FOR RED CROSS

"Every new development of the present conflict throws further responsibilities on the War Organisation of the Red Cross and St. John," said H.R.H. the Duke of Gloucester in an appeal for funds for the above association.

"When many thousands of our men fell into the enemy's hands as prisoners of war, the Red Cross was charged with the task of providing them with clothing, food and comforts.

"When the air attack on these Islands began in earnest, Red Cross and St. John workers everywhere were instantly in action. Ever since help of every kind has been given to the sufferers; today the Red Cross and St. John is helping to staff air-raid shelters with trained first-aid workers.

"In Egypt the Middle East Commission, prepared and equipped in days of comparative quiet, is fully occupied in providing comforts and supplementary medical and surgical supplies for the sick and wounded. All its resources have recently been placed at the disposal of Greece.

"At home the Red Cross is still hard at work converting country houses and other suitable premises into convalescent homes and hospitals capable of receiving 20,000 patients.

VOLUNTARY SUPPORT

"For all these activities and the many other services it renders the Red Cross and St. John War Organisation relies on voluntary support and this support I now earnestly ask you to redouble.

"I am more than grateful for the generous response that has been given to my original appeal, and am confident that the British people everywhere will continue to make their contribution towards the cost of Red Cross work for our sick and wounded and prisoners of war."

EXPENDITURES

The figures given below show the main items of expenditure of the War Organisation to Nov. 6, 1940. The total expenditure of £2,294,500 is an increase of £532,100 over the figure to Oct. 2, namely, £1,762,500, as given in the summary of work for Nov. 2, 1940.

The items of expenditure are as under:—

Purchase of General and Medical Stores and Comforts (including materials for the Central Hospital Supply Service, and administrative expenses of the Stores Department) £814,400; Purchase of Ambulances, X-ray Units and Equipment 187,400; Food and Clothing for Prisoners of War 575,200; Work of Commissions Overseas 122,500; Convalescent Homes for Officers and other Ranks (part recoverable) 52,650; Red Cross and St. John County Branches and Joint County Committees for local work and air raid relief 266,500; Scottish Branch, R.R.C.S.—from Scottish Subscriptions 129,000; Relief in Finland 10,000; General and Secretarial Administrative Expenses and Appeal Expenses 136,950. Total: £2,294,500.

FUNDS RECEIVED

The total funds received by the Treasurers from the inception of the appeal to Nov. 6 amounted to £3,344,000. Deduct—Expenditure (as above) £2,294,500. Total: £1,049,500.

Deduct—Commitments in respect of air raid relief work £195,000. Balance of Funds available at Nov. 6, 1940 £854,500.

It will be observed from the above figures that roughly three-quarters of the total funds received have already been spent or allocated.

In addition, there are heavy continuing commitments for specific services, such as the purchase of parcels for prisoners of war, of which alone the cost amounts to £800,000 a year.

Deportee, In Court, Makes Offer To British War Fund

"I am quite prepared, if I am able to get back my property, to subscribe one-third of its value to the British War Fund and two-thirds to charitable institutions in Hong-kong."

This was the offer made by a deportee, Cheung Kwok-hing, to the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, at the Supreme Court yesterday in the course of an appeal against sentence of one year's imprisonment imposed on him by Mr. G. T. Lowry at the Central Magistracy on Sept. 14 for a breach of the Deportation Ordinance.

MACAO GREETINGS TO COLONY

The following are texts of telegrams exchanged between the Governors of Macao and Hongkong on the centenary of the Colony:—

From Governor, Macao:—In my name and in the name of the Colony of Macao I greet Your Excellency and the Colony of Hongkong on the occasion of its first centenary and make sincere wishes for its prosperity.

From Acting Governor, Hong-kong:—I tender Your Excellency my sincere thanks and those of the people of this Colony for your telegram of congratulations on the occasion of its centenary.

Appellant stated that the sentence was too heavy and, since his banishment, he had stayed outside the Colony and only came back because he was forced to by the Japanese.

Cheung told his Lordship that he was forced on board a junk at Po On and was put on shore, together with 41 other persons, at Lau Fau Shan, British territory.

His Lordship: How did you come from Lau Fau Shan to the Tai Kwan Hotel, in Des Voeux Road Central, where you were arrested?—I came here on foot.

PROPERTY "DEVOURED"
Asked why he came here, appellant replied that he wanted to take a steamer to Macao where his family lived.

Continuing, Cheung stated that when he was banished back to his native place he discovered that his father had died and that all properties left behind had been "devoured" by an uncle who had buried his father. On Sept. 7 the Japanese invaded his village which was burned down and more than 400 people were slaughtered. He escaped but was captured and taken to the Japanese camp.

Asking his Lordship to deal with him leniently Cheung said that he had two children who were detained by the Japanese.

APPEAL FOR LENIENCY
"I have some property in the village. The Japanese required my family to go back there before they would let me have the property. I hope your Lordship will deal with me leniently so that I can get back there sooner."

Appellant then made his offer as stated earlier, adding that it was better than letting the Japanese have the property.

His Lordship, without calling upon Mr. J. P. Murphy, Assistant Crown Solicitor, dismissed the appeal, saying that it obviously had no merits. Det.-Sgt. J. R. Sykes was present for the Police.

ROUND THE POLICE COURTS

AT CENTRAL

CLERK IMPRISONED

Tsang Wing-san, 24, residing at No. 21, D'Agulhar Street, first floor, clerk of Tajmahal Silk Store, Queen's Road Central, charged on counts of stealing a quantity of clothing from the store and illegal pawning of part of the stolen articles, appeared on remand before Mr. G. T. Lowry yesterday when he was sentenced to a total of four months' hard labour.

Defendant was alleged to have stolen on divers dates six pieces of gold lame, six pieces velvet, a piece gold printed lame, three pieces silver lame and two manikure sets, then being in the employ of S. Nalin, proprietor of the store.

Det.-Sgt. W. Summers, prosecuting, stated that the total value of goods stolen was $545. Of this sum, $470 worth had been recovered. These goods were pawned by defendant for $23 in sums of $1 and $2.

Pleading guilty, defendant said that he did this because his son was sick.

KODAK CO. FINED

"My instructions are to press for a serious penalty in this case, if convicted, so that Mr. Frisque and the Company would be made an example," stated Mr. J. P. Murphy, Assistant Crown Solicitor, addressing Mr. Sheldon yesterday, when the Eastman Kodak Company and Mr. G. E. Frisque, manager of the Company, were summoned for exporting, on Dec. 21, certain photographic goods without a licence from the Controller of Trade.

Mr. Murphy prosecuted, assisted by Mr. H. J. Crutwell, of the Controller of Trade Office, while defendant was represented by Mr. R. M. King, who pleaded Not Guilty.

A fine of $100 was imposed.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

Judgment was reserved until Feb. 11, at noon, by Mr. Lowry yesterday in the case in which Wong Hah-long and Cheung Kung-hop were charged with having conspired with another, not in custody, to threaten Tang Kwai-wai with injury to his person to force the latter to drop the prosecution of an action in the Supreme Court against first defendant and the Kin Kee Trading Company, when the hearing, which has lasted for several months, was concluded.

Second defendant, in evidence, yesterday stated: "I did not threaten complainant on the whole, but on the contrary, my meeting with him was very pleasant and amicable."

Representing complainant, Mr. W. M. Brown said that about 9.07 p.m. on Jan. 12 complainant drove his bus to the front of the Star Ferry wharf. As he started to move to the parking place defendant boarded the bus and hit him at the back through the open window. Wu Ping, turning round, received another blow on his nose causing it to bleed.

Complainant ran to the time-keeper's office followed by defendant, who it was alleged, scattered the paper and caused a disturbance in the office.

Accused said that he was crossing the road in front of the bus, when, he alleged, the bus struck him.

In passing sentence Mr. Himsforth said that defendant should have made a report to the Police instead of assaulting the driver.

INDIAN CHARGED

Ghulam Mohammed, 25, of Royal Indian Army Service Corps, was charged before Mr. Himsforth yesterday with burglary.

Det.-Sgt. A. Bethell said that complainant in the case was Law Tak-wah, a shop foki of the Chuen Kee shop in the Whitfield Barracks. He went out about 6 p.m. on Monday, locking the door behind him and returned about 1.45 a.m. on the following day to find the door open. He went into the shop and saw defendant inside. Complainant questioned defendant what he had taken but defendant started to run. Law made a report to a corporal who accompanied him to the shop where they found $5, a tin of milk and six apples missing.

Pleading not guilty, defendant said that he was sleeping and never went to the shop in the evening in question. He asked permission to call witness for his defence and was remanded for 24 hours.

Defendant had been released from jail last year and placed under Police supervision. He did not report to the Police when he was required to do so.

JAPAN'S CRY OF DESPAIR

AN AUSTRALIAN newspaper correctly summed up the recent speech made by Prince Konoye, the Japanese Prime Minister, as a cry of despair. The speech was the first official admission of the failure of Japan's attempt to bring China to her knees after nearly four years of war and the Prime Minister's words only echoed the feelings of the Japanese people who have now grown tired of the demands being made on them by their militarists and of the promises held out to them to bring the "China Incident" to a successful conclusion. Prince Konoye's somewhat dramatic readiness to accept full responsibility for the failure of the Japanese army's campaign in China shows that he has become fully aware of the state of mind of the people and his declaration that he was determined to exert his full energy to bringing this protracted campaign to an end appears to have come a bit too late, if it was meant to bolster up the morale of the Japanese civilians and to prepare them for further demands on their purses and essential needs.

IN STRIKING CONTRAST was the clear and honest explanation which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek gave on Wednesday with regard to the steps that had been taken to deal with the situation created by the insubordination of the Chinese Communist Army. His explanation of the position gave the lie direct to the Japanese attempts to make out that the incident was a forerunner of civil war in China and went further to show that not only has the Chinese Government shown itself capable of dealing with such a situation, but that it was not afraid to permit the world to know the full facts of what had taken place, so that there might be no misapprehension outside China on the subject. There is no doubt that the Chinese people themselves, who have attained a standard of unity of resolve and determination in keeping with the same spirit that is being displayed by Britain and her allies, have been unshaken by this unfortunate incident and that they will require no begging plea from their leader to continue their fight for liberty and independence.

H.K. MAILS LOST

The Postmaster General announced that letters by surface route for United Kingdom, via United States of America posted in Hongkong about Oct. 27 and 28 and Nov. 1 and 2, 1940, have been lost through enemy action.

WHILE PRINCE KONOYE, however, was making his apology, he was no doubt pondering over the results of Japan's commitments to the Axis Powers and the ever increasing difficulties which are arising to impede her establishment of the so-called "New Order" in East Asia. In an effort to relieve himself of the increasing German pressure for action in the Orient, the Japanese Prime Minister and his official colleagues have endeavoured to offset the disappointment which the Japanese people are feeling over the progress of the China campaign, by making a great deal of bluster in connexion with Japan's plan for southward expansion. The reported success of Japan's mediation in the Indo-China-Thai dispute will no doubt be claimed by the Government as evidence of their determination to push on with their programme regardless of any obstacles. There is also the news that Japan has followed up this mediation effort by taking the opportunity to make further demands on Indo-China and Thailand and also to adopt a more uncompromising attitude towards the Netherlands East Indies.

IT IS INCREDIBLE that Prince Konoye and his Ministers can be so blind to the consequences which will result from any precipitate action either in Indo-China or in the Dutch East Indies. There is already ample evidence to show the failure of the guarantees which Herr Hitler has offered Japan for her active participation on his behalf by creating a disturbance in the East. His attempt to overawe the United States into remaining indifferent to Japan's actions has met with a bold rejoinder from America and even Japan's own gestures to appease the Americans have failed to hit the mark. Herr Hitler's promise to allow Japan a free hand in Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies, therefore, does not render her immune from the risk of being involved in a war with the United States and being defeated. Furthermore, all Herr Hitler's and Japan's attempts to arrive at an amicable settlement of Russo-Japanese differences have had a cold reception from the Kremlin and it is in this direction that the Japanese endeavours to reach an arrangement are at present being directed. Japan's position is indeed one of despair—she is placed in the awkward position of having to choose between two evils, neither of which offers any practical solution for the difficulties she has created for herself.

Immigration Officers Slow
In Boarding Ships, Says
Hon. Mr. T. E. Pearce

The fact that Immigration officers were slow in boarding ships and that one vessel in particular had not been boarded for nearly 24 hours after her arrival in harbour was mentioned by HON. MR. T. E. PEARCE at a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Legislative Council yesterday afternoon.

CORRESPONDENCE

C.B.S. BOYS IN ARMED SERVICES

The Editor, H.K. Daily Press
Dear Sir:—Could you possibly find space in your correspondence columns for the enclosed letter. Thanking you,
I am,
Yours faithfully,
G. E. UPSDELL.

To Past and Present members of C.B.S. and C.B.A.

You will probably know that two boys of our school—Raven and Jenner—have lost their lives in taking part in the present conflict, thus upholding the principles which they learnt with us and we are proud of them. I know that our school is represented in all branches of H.M. Services and I wonder if we are backing them up as much as we might! They are just splendid and will never let us down, but are we letting them down? They are entitled to our moral and spiritual support and I am writing to ask your co-operation for which the leaders of our Empire have appealed. Will you join with us in attending Public Worship at your various places of worship on the second Sunday evening in each month? This means that we identify ourselves publicly with the principles for which Raven and Jenner have given of their best, and in the end, their lives; that we intend to co-operate with God in making this world a better place for men to live in and that we will use all spiritual powers available to that end. Those of our school in H.M. Forces will not let us down, don't let us "let them down."

Yours ever,
G. E. UPSDELL.

CATHEDRAL
WEDDINGREV. A.P. ROSE AND MISS B. WANCEY.

A pretty wedding took place at St. John's Cathedral yesterday afternoon when MISS BEATRICE MARY WANCEY, nursing sister of Queen Mary Hospital, became the bride of the REV. ALABIC PEARSON ROSE, M.A., Assistant Chaplain of St. John's Cathedral, Hongkong.

The Very Rev. J. L. Wilson, M.A., officiated. The bride looked charming in a silk tulle gown over white tulle, cut with a high waist and long tight sleeves. She wore a tulle veil, held in place with a tiara of orange blossoms, and carried a sheaf of pink and white carnations.

Miss Jane Hancey was maid-of-honour and wore a gold tulle frock over gold tulle trimmed with dark brown velvet ribbon. She wore a spray of yellow chrysanthemum, and carried a gold meshed handbag.

The reception was held at the Church Guest House, where the many friends congratulated the newly-weds.

Three fire appliances were summoned about 11 p.m. last evening when some bedding on the second floor of No. 6, Wyndham Street caught fire.

Traffic Sgt. R. Paton was first attracted to the scene by thick smoke coming from the premises and he called the Fire Brigade.

Before the arrival of the appliances the fire was brought under control.

The Committee had before them a supplementary vote for $24,600 for alterations to four godowns leased from the China Merchants Steam Navigation Company for use as an Immigration Depot.

Hon. Mr. Li Tse-fong asked what was the rent payable on the godowns.

Hon. Mr. H. R. Butters (Financial Secretary) replied that the rent was $240 for each godown.

Mr. Li: Has it been leased for long?

Mr. Butters: I think it is for a year.

Mr. Li: I think it is a lot of money to spend on this.

Hon. Mr. R. A. C. North (Acting Colonial Secretary) (Chairman) said that the only information he had with him was that the rent was $240 a month. It had been reduced from $265. The lease was for a year and was subject to three months notice and renewable at the option of the Government at the same rental.

Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo: I think you must have a depot.

TIME IMPORTANT

Mr. Pearce here mentioned that a ship which had arrived in port was not boarded by Immigration officers for 24 hours. "They do not want to have some central place to handle this thing. Time is rather important," he added.

The Chairman: I think they are a bit slow in getting off the mark to begin with.

Hon. Mr. A. L. Shields: What are their hours? Is there overtime for going out before breakfast or after tea?

The Financial Secretary: I have not seen any applications for that yet.

Mr. Lo: I believe they have been working at all hours. That is what I have been told.

The vote was passed. Other supplementary votes, totalling $575,034 were also approved.

THOSE PRESENT

Present at the meeting were Hon. Mr. R. A. C. North (Chairman), Hon. Mr. H. R. Butters (Financial Secretary), Hon. Mr. A. B. Purves (Director of Public Works), Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, Hon. Mr. M. K. PILOT OFFICER
DESCRIBES HIS EXPERIENCES

A graphic description of a raid on the port of Brest was given yesterday by a BRITISH PILOT OFFICER when he broadcast his experiences from London.

The officer described how when they were over Brest one engine stopped, but he decided that he might as well have a smack at the target.

He stated that he could not see the target so he came round again, a few hundred feet lower. They kept it up, falling lower each time.

TORE A HOLE

His gunner wanted to have a shot at the searchlight, but he had to advise against that being done. Then an explosive shell tore a hole in his port wing and he called to the observer to drop his bombs.

His machine was still diving down and now it was possible to see almost everything on the ground. And then they started to get back home and the observer had to help him to hold the wheel so heavy was the strain.

The pilot officer described how they eventually landed without any damage at their home base.

Naval Co-operation In British Successes In African Campaign

"Never embark on any campaign or take the British Army to any theatre of war where the Navy cannot reach a hand to you if you are in trouble and assist you if you are doing well. If you remember that, nothing can go seriously wrong, because the Navy will never let you down."

This comment, which was made by a general in the last war, was quoted by CAPTAIN CYRIL FALLS, military correspondent of THE TIMES, when he broadcast from London yesterday on the progress of the operations in Africa.

TRIBUTE TO STAFF WORK

Capt. Falls referred in his opening remarks to the capture of Tobruk, which he said had been expected for a considerable time and which the Italians themselves had come to take as a matter of course. He attributed the capture of this Italian stronghold to the perfect regularity of staff work in General Wavell's army.

"The task, however, was not lighter than it was elsewhere," continued Capt. Falls, "but the public at large find it hard to believe that a task is hard or becomes harder when it appears to be accomplished with what seems so much ease. Each time we have won a victory, there has been speculation on the next step. Where will it be directed? Will Italian resistance check us?"

"It has never checked us. Our military machine has gone on working and we who have been looking on may have been inclined to take everything for granted and to regard feats carried out by the army, which in normal times would have excited astonishment, without comment.

"With the capture of Tobruk, however, we are entitled to say that matters have progressed," declared Capt. Falls. "Apart from the value of its harbour, which will make it easy for us to supply our advanced forces by sea, we have been able to destroy over half or nearly two-thirds of the enemy's fighting strength in Africa."

GARRISON ESSENTIALS

Capt. Falls went on to comment on the essentials for the establishment of a garrison such as the Italians had in Africa. He pointed out that apart from the troops, administrative forces were also needed for certain civilian duties and military police were necessary to keep order in a country where the population might not be too friendly disposed towards the authorities.

"This will need nearly a quarter of a million men," said Capt. Falls. "Therefore, when you hear that Italy has lost 100,000 men in prisoners and so many thousands killed and wounded, that means that they have lost much more in effective fighting strength—probably two-thirds. The morale of the survivors in such circumstances can well be imagined and it must be accepted that their resistance will become pretty low."

Capt. Falls next referred to a summing up of the situation in Africa by the Soviet newspaper, the Red Star, which pointed out that the question of importance now was not as to what would happen to Libya, but whether the Italians had the power to put up any further resistance.

"I think the Red Star puts the case very well," said Capt. Falls. "The problem now before General Wavell is no longer measured by Italian resistance in North Africa, but what form German intervention to help Italy will take."

NAVAL CO-OPERATION

"We have to be very watchful of this. We must not forget that we have now, for the first time taken the initiative in the Mediterranean. The Axis, or rather, I should say, Germany, is still very formidable in this region, but if we look at what has happened, we shall come to the conclusion that our own position is immensely formidable also.

"In all campaigns, the air force must co-operate with the ground forces, but it is only once perhaps in ten years that an action can be fought in which the naval forces also co-operate as the British Mediterranean Fleet has been able to co-operate with the Army of the Nile. This is exceptionally rare, but when it occurs it is overwhelmingly strong.

"This reminds me of a talk I had with a general during the last war. He said: 'I had only one principle with which I identified myself—it is, never embark on any campaign or take the British Army to any theatre of war where the navy cannot reach out a hand to you if you are in trouble and to assist you if you are doing well. If you remember that, nothing can go seriously wrong, because the navy will never let you down."

SUCCESS OF CAMPAIGN

Capt. Falls declared that the successful campaign against Italy had now begun. After many months, a great block of territory known as Italian East Africa had been passing into British control. This territory also included the boundaries of the French territory known as French Somaliland, which the Italians had dominated and held at their mercy. In this large block of territory the Italian forces were being driven back and there were great quantities of stores and material which were being left behind. And now this great stretch of country was being cut off from the rest of Italy's African Empire.

"At the outbreak of the war here, we were unable to prevent the Italians from crossing their frontier," said Capt. Falls. "It looked, indeed, as if their advance would be combined with a thrust from Kassala.

"Now, however, that has come to an end. The Italians have not yet been wiped out here as they have been in North Africa, but already they are on the defensive. No help or supplies can get to them and they are in danger from inside their territory where the Abyssinian patriots have begun to operate in columns all over the country.

"What is happening in Eritrea shows that there is really very little fight left in the Italian Army in Africa. No one can pretend that Italian East Africa is more of a main centre of war than North Africa, because the latter is concerned with the Mediterranean and the Mediterranean is a main theatre of war.

"But it means that the Italian communications have been broken for something like 2,000 miles. Our air forces have destroyed numerous submarine bases and the Italian air force is not particularly strong or enterprising. "We shall be glad to see the whole campaign brought to an end as we have much better use for our forces operating there and I am hoping that this will be done before very long."

RETURN TO NORMALCY
TODAY

Today, the fifth day of the first moon of the lunar year, will see the gradual return to normalcy in local shopping, and trading conditions.

The majority of the larger stores—including the "Big Four," Sincere, Sui, Wing On and China Emporium—will reopen for business, amid the thunderous noise of long strings of fire-crackers.

COURTESY CALLS

Courtesy calls, by women and children in all their finery, will continue until the fifteenth day (Feb. 10), as will the custom of giving "lai-see" to children.

Sight-seeing will, however, gradually diminish and ferries, buses, and trams will be less crowded. Hongkong will definitely be returning to its humdrum everyday life.

Mr. William Williamson, of the H. K. Police, returned to Hongkong yesterday.

Mr. E. Wong, of No. 220, Prince Edward Road, has reported the theft of an electric motor pump from his residence.

GEN. WU TE-CHEN ON RELATIONS BETWEEN CHINA AND BURMA

Interviewed by Press representatives upon his arrival in Rangoon recently, GENERAL WU TE-CHEN, Chinese Minister of Overseas Affairs, and Goodwill Envoy to the South Seas, said: "During the past three months I have been on a goodwill tour of the Philippines, the Netherlands East Indies and the greater part of Malaya, including the Straits Settlements, the Federated Malay States, and the Unfederated Malay States of Johore and Kedah. I am glad to have the opportunity of visiting this country. In coming to Burma I am not only on a goodwill mission, but I also bring a message from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to my countrymen.

Fighting Spirit Of The Maltese

PART PLAYED IN PRESENT WAR

"There are 1,300 Maltese serving in the Royal Navy. There are 260,000 men, women and children in the island and these people are playing their part today in beating off the attacks being made on them by German dive-bombers. They are proving once again that they are worthy fighters. The same spirit of centuries ago lives on," said LIETT, COMMANDER THOMAS WOODRUFFE, when he broadcast from London yesterday on the significance of Malta in the present war in the Mediterranean.

IMPORTANT POSITION

Comdr. Woodruffe gave a picturesque description of the island and traced its history from the time of the days of Carthage. Malta, he said, lay on the important Mediterranean route and the position of the island had played a great part in its history. The speaker spoke of the several struggles in which the islanders had been engaged in. This he said had developed their fighting spirit. Comdr. Woodruffe also referred to the founding of the famous Knights of St. John on the island and described the beautiful cathedral which had been so artistically built.

NEVER CONQUERED

"The Maltese," said Comdr. Woodruffe, "have never been a conquered race. They have preserved their language and customs. They were never conquered by the British, but asked to be taken under the protection of the British flag. The first Governor of the island was a British naval officer."

The Maltese were now showing the same spirit that had made a historian write of them during the war of 1552 that "it was wonderful to see that even women and children laid aside every fear. They repaired walls, carried away the dead and helped the wounded without fear."

EIRE TO BUILD UP WAR ECONOMY

Mr. de Valera in a statement reported in a message from Saigon, said that Eire would continue to build up her defence forces. "We also have to build up a war economy," said Mr. de Valera, "and this must be capable of withstanding all difficulties. I don't say we shall succeed, but with mutual co-operation, our standard of living will at least be reasonable."

A 19-year-old girl, Lai Shu-chu, suddenly collapsed at Des Voeux Road yesterday. She was taken to the Queen Mary Hospital.

Japan Developing The Encirclement Myth: Matsuoka Modelling His Oratory On That Of Hitler

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—One concrete result of Japan's accession to the Axis has been the growing inclination of Mr. Matsuoka to model his oratory on Hitler's, says THE TIMES in an editorial on his speech at the opening of the Diet followed by a further utterance in reply to Mr. Cordell Hull which represents a departure from tradition but no accretion in strength.

Mr. Matsuoka's ruling obsession—proclamation of the Western Pacific as the lebensraum of dominant and self-sufficient Japan—bears the authentic Nazi stamp.

The shrill tone in which the hands off notice is served to other Powers, especially the United States, is that of Hitler himself.

KONOYE AND TOTALITARIAN PRACTICES

TOKYO, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—Prince Fumimaro Kono, the Japanese Prime Minister, reiterated his opposition to the application of Italo-German totalitarian practices in Japan.

Questioned before the Lower House Budgetary Committee, regarding passages extolling the extension of totalitarianism in the whole world, which is contained in the Information Board's booklet on the "new structure," the Premier declared:—

"I believe it to be wrong to attempt to apply to Japan, without modifications, totalitarian practices."

FUTURE OF FRANCE

The official German News Agency quoted an article appearing in a German-controlled newspaper in Paris which states that the future of France will be compromised if Vichy does not change its attitude, states a London message.

This paper adds that since M. Laval retired from the political stage all co-operation between Vichy, Paris and Berlin had been broken off.

"Today, when a decisive hour is striking, Vichy is acting against the fatherland. France must realise this for her fate is now at stake."

Mr. Jinnah, well-known Muslim leader, has been recommended for the Presidency of the All-India Muslim League for 1941, states a message from Delhi.

Minister, announced in a message to the armed forces that by order of the King, he had assumed direction of the Ministries of War, Marine and Air.

The message continues: "Under the protection of God and the Holy Virgin, under the iron command of the King and your leaders and with the prayers of all Greeks, you will break the cowardly enemy and you will triumph and show yourselves worthy of the grand visions of the great national Governor who has departed."

AUSTRALIA MOURNS
Sir Frederick Stewart, Australian Minister for External Affairs, said that Australia mourns with Greece the loss of a great leader in General Metaxas, states a London message.

Sir Frederick added that they hoped another leader will rise to consolidate the foundations laid by the late Premier.

WARMEST SYMPATHY
LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—The death of General Metaxas was made prominent in this morning's newspapers, which express the warmest sympathy for the Greeks and eulogise the late Premier as a great leader who restored the Greek spirit and self-confidence.

THE TIMES says that General Metaxas will bear the honour of having first destroyed the legend of the invincibility of the armies of the Axis.

The effect of the surprising Greek victories can hardly be over-estimated, and this effect is not only confined to neutrals.

It is not too much to say, that even the Army of the Nile was cheered to learn that the Italian armies, which they were preparing to encounter were less formidable than suggested by their armaments, numbers and the false glitter of the totalitarian state.

Japan is developing the myth of encirclement. Large British and American interests in China and the long-standing friendship to China are treated as evidence of the intention to encircle Japan.

American concern in the defence of Singapore and integrity of the Netherlands East Indies would apparently be regarded by Japan as a positive threat.

UNLAWFUL OCCUPATION

Japan is only a power in the Pacific whose armed forces are in unlawful occupation of territory not her own and although every kind of provocation has been practiced against peaceful British and American citizens, there has been no British or American action or concentration of British and American forces in the Western Pacific. It would be difficult to draw a more unconvincing picture of menace and encirclement than that which appears to have taken shape in Mr. Matsuoka's excited imagination.

The nature of service which Mr. Matsuoka's threats were designed to render to the Axis is clear enough. The future course of Japan's policy is more obscure and possibly there may still be room therein for caution which her official spokesmen have thrown to the winds.

CONSOLIDATE GAINS

In China, Japan has partially withdrawn and is seeking to consolidate her gains though it is doubtful whether the Chinese forces would leave her long in undisputed enjoyment of her somewhat diminished laurels.

For the moment Japan's eyes are roving southward. The news that Thailand and Indo-China had accepted arbitration would have been welcome but for the suspect of the character of recent Japanese activities there.

Japanese emissaries seem to have played a sinister role in for-menting strife which they are now seeking to compose.

Violently expressed Japanese objections to the mediation of any other power, suggest its chief ambition was to assert authority over the two weaker countries by a dictated award comparable to those imposed by the Axis in South-Eastern Europe.

TRUCULENT ATTITUDE

Notwithstanding the truculent attitude of the Foreign Minister, Japan has obvious moments of uneasiness about the goal to which she is being led.

The mildness, bordering on obsequiousness, of the recent attitude to the Soviet is a highly significant success of these transparent tactics which are likely to be limited and short-lived.

From the Soviet viewpoint, the Japanese record in the last 20 years has been more consistently black than almost any other Powers.

While the Soviet does not desire at present a collision with Japan, any serious Japanese embroilment elsewhere would provide her an opportunity of advancing her interests and paying off old scores which she would be unwilling to miss.

But the greatest source of uneasiness for the more prudent Japanese statesmen is the steady deterioration of Japanese relations with Britain and the United States.

It is easy to calculate Britain can do little while her strength is absorbed in Europe, but it is not so easy to be sure how long this limitation will last and there is already an uncomfortable perception in some Japanese minds of the changes which would wrought the Far Eastern situation by a British victory.

POTENTIAL ENEMY

The Japanese accession to the Axis compelled the United States and also Britain reluctantly to regard Japan a potential enemy and since then American opinion more and more ranked Japan among the powers whose policy designs are inimical to American ideals and way of life.

President Roosevelt and the State Department have given Mr. Matsuoka no reason to suppose that they will be intimidated and impressed by menaces and discourtesy.

Japan is launched on a dangerous path. Simultaneously to antagonise the United States and Britain would seem an unthinkable folly to more cautious Japanese leaders a few years ago and it is a prospect few Japanese can contemplate with equanimity today.

ADMIRAL NOMURA

According to a report from Honolulu quoted in a message from Saigon yesterday, two American destroyers will meet the vessel on which Admiral Nomura, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, is travelling to America.

U.S. EXPORTS TO RUSSIA

In a reference to Mr. Hugh Dalton's statement in the House of Commons recently regarding the volume of export of goods from America to Soviet Russia, Mr. Cordell Hull stated yesterday that he wished to point out that the lifting of the embargo on exports to Russia should not be misunderstood, according to a Saigon message.

ATHENS, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—The newspapers state that Gen. Metaxas was first indisposed on Jan. 17 at the Cabinet and underwent an operation for septicaemia. He later improved but suddenly the tonsillar affection had a repercussion, the old intestinal ulcer causing internal haemorrhage and, despite three blood transfusions, he sank into a coma.

All members of the family and members of the Government were present at the death.

STORY OF COMPLETE DEFEAT OF JAPANESE BLOCKADE OF CHINA

BEHIND THE JAPANESE PRIME MINISTER'S ADMISION THAT THERE IS NOT A GLIMMER OF HOPE FOR A SETTLEMENT OF JAPAN'S WAR IN CHINA, lies the story of the complete defeat of the Japanese blockade of China, states an article in an Australian morning paper, which was quoted yesterday in a message from Sydney.

The writer said that this most enthralling episode of China's struggle has never been told, and will never be told until the war is over.

The writer also went on to give a few facts about what he described as China's secret life-line of which very little was known.

This life-line, said the writer, was not through the Burma road or through Russia, but from a point on the coast from which goods were being regularly sent to China's war-time capital in Chungking.

MILLSTONE

This route was the millstone which was hanging round Japan's neck.

Prince Kono's admission was what Japanese public opinion had long ago realised.

This secret life-line of China had been built up by the untiring efforts of Chinese engineers. Goods were carried part of the way by Chinese, part of the way in sailing junks and part of the way in trucks.

The writer added that even motor vehicles had been taken into parts and carried piece by piece over the route by sweating coolies.

SUEZ CANAL RAID

There was an enemy air raid on the Suez Canal on Wednesday, states a London message.

Several bombs were dropped but no damage was caused and there were no casualties.

NEW DECREE IN VICHY

According to a message from Saigon, it was announced in Vichy on Wednesday that a new constitutional decree is to be published shortly requiring all ministers, high officials and state dignitaries to swear allegiance to Marshal Petain.

The same message added that the Havas Agency, which has now been taken under state control, will co-operate with Marshal Petain in his work and that the agency's outside services will function as before with the same staffs.

CHURCH AND STATE

It was also announced that the first result of rapprochement between the Catholic Church and the French States is seen in the introduction of religious education in school programmes.

A report from Marseilles, quoted in the same message, states that the suppression of Communists in Southern France continues. Six Communists were reported to have been arrested in Nice and six others in Toulon.

Marshal Petain is to have a guard-of-honour of 2,000 men who will wear blue uniform with white gloves.—(Special) of the Air Force, it includes the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, says the communique.

A review of the two months operations on the frontier reveals that Thai forces occupied two bits of territory on the right bank of the Mekong River, cession of which would probably have avoided the fighting, which started with the French bombing of Nakhonpanom.

THAI CASUALTIES

Besides these territories Thai forces penetrated into Cambodia in a 25 miles stretch from Surin right down to the Gulf of Thailand.

Only 100 were killed and 300 wounded on the Thai side since the outbreak of the frontier fighting, says the communique, asserting this is insignificant compared with the French total which, however, is not indicated.

PARLEY IN TOKYO

BANGKOK, Jan. 30 (Reuter)—Thai delegates to the armistice conference with French Indo-China, to be held in Tokyo, are leaving for Tokyo by air on Feb. 2, it was announced here.

HOW BRITAIN IS MEETING AIR ATTACKS

The latest mail to Australia from Britain has brought many stories and pictures of the way in which Britain is meeting the air attacks being made on her, states a message from Sydney.

These stories indicate that the British people have not disregarded the possibility of a German invasion and that they have been preparing for some time to meet it.

FRENCH SOLDIERS RETURN

A message from Saigon yesterday stated that another contingent of French soldiers who were interned in Switzerland have arrived in Toulon.

MALAYS ARE INFERIOR TO NONE

Benito Soliven, assemblyman of Locos Sur, delivered an eloquent defence of the Malay race before the Baguio Rotary Club recently in the Pines Hotel, reports the Manila Bulletin.

"To many of those who consider themselves as belonging to superior races," Soliven said, "the Malay has barely a place in the history of human progress." Using this challenge as a theme, the assemblyman showed briefly how the Malays, who he delimited, as all those peoples belonging to the brown races, had contributed to civilisation in past centuries.

BIG EXPANSION

Malays occupy an area spreading from Madagascar to Mexico. The unparalleled dispersion and expansion of the race over the face of the entire globe speak high of the courage and pioneering spirit of the brown race," Soliven declared. He pointed out that long before the Phoenicians had braved the Mediterranean, Malayan counter-parts of Ulysses had traded and explored through the vast reaches of the Pacific. "Prior to the flowering of Aryan civilisation, antedating Median, Persian, Greek, Roman and Hellenic culture, there flourished in Europe and North Africa and in the islands of the Mediterranean, great empires and kingdoms of dark-skinned or brown peoples, whose civilisation reached such a high degree of development and excellence that in many respects it has remained unsurpassed to this day."

INTERESTING DISCLOSURE

Interesting to the many Romanians present was his declaration that many of the symbols of Fascist and Nazi upholders of Aryan superiority were originated by the Malays, including the swastika, the Roman salute, and others.

"Among the great monuments of the race are the buildings of Sumeria, Egypt, Crete, of the Incas, Mayas, Aztecs, and of the Khmers who built Angkor Wat, Madjapahit Malays built Borobudur in Java. Among the great Malays are Ghandi, Rizal, Gautama Buddha, Asoka, and Akbar.

"We are a people inferior to none, capable of the highest progress, culture and civilisation," Soliven concluded.

Shielded from dive-bombing attacks by its own barrage balloon, a merchantman makes its way up Channel in convoy. The picture is taken from an R.A.F. patrol ship. Nazi vertical swoops at speed on, to vessels equipped in this way are an exceedingly risky proceeding.

NO COLOUR LINE DRAWN IN TRIM N.E.I. ARMY

BATAVIA, Jan. 15 — Although its numbers do not approach the regions of Europe's armed forces, the Netherlands Indies army today stands geared for blitzkrieg war, writes John Raleigh in the Manila Bulletin.

Learning from recent battlefields abroad, the Dutch general staff has produced a trained, highly mobile force which has surprised foreign military observers by its trimness and fighting ability.

Drawing no color line, the army often allows Europeans to serve in the same squad, as natives, and, furthermore, the commanding sergeant may be native. Who's boss in the ranks depends upon who is the best soldier. And the system works well.

CONFIDENT BODY

The Dutch point out that an army is for fighting, and whether its men are white, or otherwise, makes little difference in action. "The respect of one soldier for the superior military accomplishments of another determine obedience in the field."

The arrangement has evolved a confident, resolute body of men who work in teams that cooperate satisfactorily under all conditions. Under a blazing tropical sun at Djimahi, in the hill country of north Java, the army maintains its principal encampment. In nearby Bandoeng the department of war functions—in close touch with officer cadres on active service, and all the problems arising from the needs of thousands of men.

OLD SIGHT

The actual number is not known publicly. Probably only a few staff and field officers know the exact number of men stationed at Djimahi.

An old sight on the drill grounds is a maneuvering company of dark small-statured natives, with their green uniforms and upturned bamboo hats marching side by side with towering Dutchmen similarly clad, either in the regular army, or doing their period of conscription service.

Militia service, conscription of Europeans from Holland, and regular recruiting are very serious matters in the Netherlands Indies. The Dutch are fully awake to the possibilities of war in this part of the world. They guard a veritable storehouse of war materials, many of them indispensable to the operation and supply of belligerent nations.

UP TO AGE OF 46

Every Dutchman up to the age of 46 years is registered. If hostilities swept southward there would be few homes in the Indies that did not have one or more members in the army or navy.

The native soldier joins the army for three or six years. In the former case he must report once a year for three to four weeks training after his hitch is served.

Conscription among the natives is not necessary. They like the army for the most part. Many of the best native troops are descended from fighting tribes whose only vocation was soldiering.

SENSE OF HUMOUR

But a sense of humour is not lost in the dark-visaged flies. Grinning faces and hearty laughs seem to be the rule rather than the exception. The food is good, and the work not too hard. Living quarters are usually superior to former homes of matted huts and dirty flooring.

If the men are married their wives may live with them in the barracks.

The motto across the facade of the department of war, perhaps, best expresses Dutch sentiment. It reads: "If I P... is Desired, Prepare for War."

That is the sentiment day philo-sophy of the Netherlands East Indies.

IAN HAY RESIGNS WAR OFFICE POST

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter) — The War Office announces that Major-General Belth (Ian Hay, the well-known novelist) has resigned his appointment as Director of Public Relations in the War Office.

Captain David Margesson has accepted the resignation with great regret and has expressed his appreciation of Major-General Belth's great services to the Army. He has appointed Colonel Walter Elliott, to succeed him.

Mr. F. J. McGibbon has been appointed Australian Commonwealth representative of the fighting forces abroad, states a London message. He will visit the Middle East and then proceed to London where he will see Mr. M. Bruce, Australian High Commissioner.

France Look To Leahy To Solve Growing Food Difficulties

VICHY, Jan. 9.—With tension developing between occupied and nonoccupied France, and also between Paris and Vichy, over the food situation, the Marshal Henri Petain government today moved to relieve 3,500,000 residents of Paris who were suffering from cold and hunger.

Severe storms the past few days have disrupted road, rail and water traffic, including dispatch of coal and foodstuffs, particularly meat.

INCREASED FOOD

Marshal Petain ordered increased delivery of foodstuffs to Paris, relaxation of food taxes and increased the winter dole to the unemployed by two francs daily plus an additional franc for each additional dependent.

Marshal Petain also ordered wide requisitions throughout French production centers in order to boost deliveries to Paris.

The British blockade has proved extremely effective, and only Marshalls were receiving a small dribble of supplies from the colonies. Paris meat receipts the past fortnight were reported to have been less than the normal requirements for one day.

PARTIAL SOLUTION

France, however, looked to Admiral William D. Leahy, new U. S. ambassador to the Vichy government, to provide a partial solution to France's food difficulties through partial lifting of the blockade in order to permit food and medicines for children to enter France.

Leahy presented his letters of credence and President Roosevelt's personal message to Chief of State Marshal Petain at Sevigne Palace yesterday.

Despite the knee-deep snow, sub zero temperature and icy winds sweeping down the Allier valley from the Auvergne mountains, a small crowd assembled in the park opposite the pavilion to watch Leahy's arrival. French bluejackets, lined up in the snow, snapped into a salute when Leahy inspected the detachments and saluted the colors.

SILK HAT EXHIBITION

Leahy and his entire staff, except the military and naval attaches, were dressed in silk hats and cutaways. The attaches wore service uniforms.

It was the first silk hat exhibition seen in Vichy in the six months since the government moved here. The American diplomats who had hastily fled from Paris with the French formerly had only summer clothes, but sent home for formal dress and top hats.

Chief of Protocol Loe escorted Leahy from the embassy. General Laure, who recently returned from a German prison camp from which he was liberated to join Petain as chief of staff, met Leahy at the door and led him to Petain.

The marshal affectionately greeted Leahy and recalled their previous meeting at Yorktown, when Petain represented France in the 150th anniversary of Cornwallis' surrender.

NO SPEECHES

There was no customary exchange of speeches. Instead, Leahy expressed pleasure in being able to present the letters, and Petain accepted them with only few comments.

The troops again saluted as Leahy left through the park to enter his car at the gates.

For the second time within a week, Le Temps devoted its official inspired first column editorial to Leahy's arrival and reception and took occasion to emphasize France's neutrality in the war between Britain and the Axis.

PERSONAL MESSAGE

Said the editorial: "President Roosevelt's personal message to Marshal Petain, which Ambassador Leahy is delivering, brings assurance of material aid for our children and our invalids. Nothing could touch us deeper in our distress because we see that our friends across the Atlantic understand our distress which is so terribly aggravated by the exceptionally hard winter and by the blockade which affects us first of all even though we have already laid down our arms and play absolutely no part in the continuance of the war."

"Such an unusual situation is so contrary to any notion of rights and elementary sentiments of humanity that no one who has a spirit of justice can remain indifferent. Impartial history will be all the more severe for those who systematically aggravated the dis-

U.S. Output Of Planes To Be At Peak In 1942

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Reliable quarters revealed today that national defense leaders have advised Congress that the United States anticipated attaining its peak production of aircraft and military material by the early summer of 1942, when American plants will be producing more than 2,000 planes monthly, writes Julius C. Edelstein in the Manila Bulletin.

Military experts said the United States at present is producing in the neighbourhood of 1,000 planes monthly but said this curve was rising gradually.

Military experts disclosed that the United States military branches have abandoned President Roosevelt's programme of achieving 50,000 warplanes, and intend to concentrate on the new goal—an air force of under 30,000 planes and a productive capacity of roughly 30,000 annually.

It was understood the navy does not want more than 12,000 planes of which about 6,500 could be earmarked for fleet use and 5,500 in shore stations and bases. The army does not plan for an air force of much greater than 15,000 combat ships of all types.

FLEXIBILITY IS AIM
The greatest objective, it was understood, was a productive capacity with a high degree of flexibility in order to meet rapidly changing developments. Congressional circles learned that some planes designed for Britain and started four months ago were returned upon completion for modification as a result of current combat experience.

Experts explained that the U.S. defense programme was not really under way until October, 1940. They pointed out that in November, 1940, the United States produced in the neighbourhood of 800 planes, of which less than half went to Britain. Over 100 planes were commercial, while the remainder was divided between the army and navy. A large proportion of these was training planes, of which the United States has great need.

TRAINED WORKERS
The federal security administration announced today that it was fully satisfied with the programme of training workers in vocational schools throughout the United States for the speeded-up war programme.

Thousands of trained workers go out from vocational schools to help build planes, tanks, ships, and guns needed for defense, the announcement said. About 250 cities now operate vocational de-

BRITISH OFFICIALS TO DROP JARGON

Mr. Churchill has sent to his colleagues in the Government, and through them, to all departments, a circular insisting on brevity and simplicity in official reports.

What the Prime Minister calls "official jargon" is to be scrapped in war-time. The death-knell of the cherished phrase "chit" is sounded.

Reports and memoranda, he orders, must set out their main points in short crisp paragraphs. Detailed analyses or statistics should be given in an appendix. "Often the occasion is best met by submitting not a full-dress report, but an aide-memoire consisting of headings only, which can be expanded orally if needed."

Some indication of the great sacrifice that the orthodox Civil Servant is called upon to make is given when Mr. Churchill writes: "Let us have an end to such phrases as these:

"It is also of importance to bear in mind the following considerations:—

"Consideration should be given to the possibility of carrying into effect."

"Most of these woolly phrases are mere padding which can be left out altogether."

Reports drawn on the crisp lines he proposes may, he agrees, "at first seem rough compared with the flat surface of official jargon." But it is, war-time; and the Civil Servant has his own peculiar field for the exercise of heroism. "Let us not shrink," pleads the

N.E.I. WILL NOT GIVE JAPAN PREFERENCE IN TRADE

BATAVIA, Jan. 15.—The Netherlands East Indies will not grant preferential economic treatment to any nation and will continue this policy as respects Japan, H. J. Van Mook, Dutch colonial commercial minister extraordinary, told the Associated Press here today, writes Reiman Morin in the Manila Bulletin.

Van Mook said present negotiations with the Japanese trade delegation now in Batavia are proceeding in an amicable atmosphere and that there was no reason to believe there would be any change in this respect.

JAPANESE PRESSURE

However, informed opinion in Batavia was unanimous that any Japanese attempts to high pressure the Dutch into an agreement will be met with counterpressure and that the island government is prepared to meet all eventualities.

The Japanese are attempting to negotiate contracts for raw materials particularly rubber and tin. The earlier Nippon delegation to the N.E.I. sought a huge oil contract.

Van Mook said the N.E.I. was agreeable to entering into closer commercial relations with Japan subject to certain conditions. He added "this government is at war with Germany. Therefore it is immediately concerned in supplying ourselves and our allies with necessary materials. Our general policy is against granting preferential economic status to any

Prime Minister: "from using the short, expressive phrase, even if it is conversational."

Inquiry at the office of the Civil Service Association showed that already, since the beginning of the war, official language has been trimmed a bit. "But there is a long way to go yet," it was stated.

DEATH PENALTY FOR FOOD HOARDERS

A warning that death penalty will be inflicted for hoarding food for profiteering is contained in a proclamation issued by the Hupeh Provincial Government.

The provincial government meanwhile orders the opening of food shops in different helen which are to be operated by commercial interests but supervised by the government. The government will fix the food prices and loss sustained by the shops as a result of the fixed prices will be

WOMEN TO REGISTER FOR INDUSTRY

Men To Be Released For Military Service

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters) — The compulsory registration of women for essential industries throughout Britain is to be enforced soon, Reuters' Political correspondent learns.

This will enable the Ministry of Labour to call upon women who are not engaged in industry to take their place in industrial ranks.

Registration will be general and without distinction but it is likely that single women will be called up first and married women later if the need arises. Age registration is expected to be 20 years and upwards.

There will be provision for cases of hardship and it is intended that as far as possible women shall be placed at work as near their homes as possible.

At the same time Government is making an exhaustive examination of the present schedule of reserved occupations for men with the object of releasing for military service all whose work is not absolutely essential.

U.S. BASES IN THE WEST INDIES

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (Reuters) — The Governor of Trinidad, Sir Hubert Young, and the Governor of the Leeward Islands, Sir Gordon Lethem, accompanied by Sir Lennon O'Reilly of Trinidad, took off for Lisbon in the Clipper yesterday en route to London to participate in the talks connected with the leasing of air and naval bases in British West Indies to the United States.

Talking to journalists, all three emphasised the importance of "hemisphere defence" for the security of the nations of the Americas.

U.K. HOLDINGS IN AMERICA

EXPERT TO STUDY POSSIBILITIES

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters) — The forthcoming visit of Sir Edward Peacock to America to examine the possibilities of investments, such as businesses in the United States, is announced in a Treasury statement.

The statement says: "In the light of the material already shipped and contemplated by the United States, it may now be freely published that His Majesty's Government have realised and disposed of a very great proportion of their gold holdings and are steadily selling American securities owned by their nationals at every opportunity."

A more difficult problem is presented by investments such as businesses in the United States and United States companies controlled by companies in this country, whose shares are not quoted on the Stock Exchange.

"His Majesty's Government are resolved to make the best possible use of these investments and they have decided to ask Sir Edward Peacock, who has great experience in such matters, to go to the United States and examine the possibilities on the spot. He will reach America very shortly."

EASTERN SUPPLY COUNCIL

NEW DELHI, Jan. 30 (Reuters) — Mr. M. S. A. Hydari, Secretary of the Labour Department, has been appointed by the Government of India to be its representative on the Eastern Group Supply Council.

The first batch of "Bevin Boys" have been selected from artisans employed in Indian factories for training in the United Kingdom under the Bevin scheme. Aged 18 to 35 they include electricians, fitters and blacksmiths from all classes all over India and they are described as the advance guard of India's industrial army.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE

London, Jan. 29 (Reuters).

The Stock Exchange yesterday was generally quiet and irregular. Glittered drifted down slightly after early firmness but closed steady. Industrials encountered some provincial selling and Home Rails tended to be easier. Oils were firm and there was further speculative enquiry for European Bonds, notably Belgian four per cent. Wall Street was irregular.

British Ship Pirated

That the whole crew, including the British master, Capt. R. Farcon, and Chief Officer, Mr. Taylor, were forced to stand with their hands above their heads, while the ship was looted was the story told by the crew of the British coastal steamer 'Ta'pat' (No. 8) which was held-up by armed Chinese pirates from a trawler in Haitan Straits on Jan. 27.

The vessel, which is owned by the Sindh Steamship Co., returned to the Colony yesterday after having been refused to discharge her cargo of flour and oil at Halkow by the Japanese.

15 ARMED MEN

According to the crew, the ship was boarded by 15 men armed with rifles and revolvers, dressed in khaki uniforms, and came from a motor trawler.

The pirates smashed in cabin doors and took away the crew's money and the ship's blankets.

After the looting a Japanese trawler appeared on the scene and ordered the vessel to weigh anchor. The ship arrived back in port with her cargo intact.

THE WEATHER

Maximum temperature yesterday was 64 and the minimum 58 compared with 70 and 64 on Wednesday.

Total rainfall since Jan. 1 is 3.78 inches against an average of 1.10. The Royal Observatory report states—

A strong anticyclone covers China, pressure being highest over the Lower Yangtze Valley. The depression has deepened considerably; it is situated to the south-east of Hokkaido, moving north-eastward.

Violations Of U.S. Act By Shipping Companies In Philippines Alleged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The U. S. Maritime Commission should enter cease-and-desist orders against specified steamer lines and shippers in U.S.-Philippine freight traffic charged with giving or obtaining transportation at less than regular rates by means of false billing, C. O. Arthur, examiner, proposed in a report to the commission released last night.

The report said such practice was a violation of section 16 of the shipping act of 1916. The report affected chiefly cotton, rayon and textiles exporters.

NO EVIDENCE

The investigation started on Aug. 13, 1940. The examiner's report concluded that no evidence was found of violation of sections 15 and 17 of the shipping act, but violations were found of section 16 by respondent carriers, namely the American President Lines, Barber Steamship Company, Ellerman and Bucknall Steamship Company, Isthmian Steamship Company and the United States Lines Company.

Also reported was the violation of section 16 of the shipping act through willful acceptance of less than regular rates by respondent shipper L. R. Aguilardo and Company and E. Awad and Sons; Abe Cohen; Federated Trading Corporation and A. Gindoff and Company; Kummer, Comins and Company; Smith, Kilpatrick and Company; Stronghold Fastener Company and United States Exports Products Company.

FALSE BILLINGS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Federal Examiner C. O. Arthur told the Maritime Commission today that seven steamship companies have permitted certain shippers to obtain less than the regular tariff rates by false billings on textile shipments from the United States to the Philippines.

Arthur recommended that the commission order the steamship lines in question to follow regular tariff schedules hereafter.

Arthur expressed the opinion that "the respondent carriers were culpably indifferent with regard to false billing to textile shipments to Manila over their lines."

The loss of a Netherlands submarine in Allied war operations was announced in a message from London. The next of kin have been informed.

German Troops In Genoa

A report from Madrid, quoted in a message from Sydney yesterday, stated that German troops have now entered Genoa and that they have been specially charged to keep down the Italian people.

The Italians are incensed over this, states the report, and as soon as disorders are quelled in one town, they spring up again in others.

The Rome Radio announced yesterday that it was preparing a broadcast in twenty-seven languages to tell the world the truth about the British people, but it made no reference to the German gaolers in Italy.

A Spitfire A Day Keeps Hitler Away!

Passengers who arrived in Sydney on Wednesday night from the Netherlands East Indies say that the most conspicuous slogan in the Netherlands East Indies today was: "A Spitfire A Day Keeps Hitler Away," according to a message from Sydney.

One arrival said that sufficient money had now been obtained in the Netherlands East Indies to purchase 27 Spitfires. In addition, the N.E.I. had given 18 bombers.

The people of the N.E.I., he said, were taking the Spitfire Fund very seriously and they had no illusions as to what would happen to them if Britain was defeated.

Matsuoka & Foreign Aid To China

TOKYO, Jan. 30 (Reuter).—The demand that Britain, the United States and Soviet Russia cease aiding China was reiterated by Mr. Matsuoka, Japanese Foreign Minister, when replying to interpellations in the Lower House.

ALIENS ARE WELL TREATED IN AUSTRALIA

Generous and liberal treatment for aliens in Australia, who have been detained in the national interest, was announced in a message from Sydney yesterday.

They will be allowed to wear their own clothes, smoke and to send two letters a week free of charge to any place inside Australia. Their food would be equivalent in quantity and quality to the food given to the soldiers who guard them.

PREVENT STRIKES

According to a London message, a Bill was introduced to the House of Representatives in Washington to prevent strikes in dockyards and plants engaged in naval construction work.

BRITISH CHINA SQUADRON OF HURRICANE FIGHTERS

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuter).—The "British China Squadron" of R.A.F. Hurricane fighters is being formed as a result of a contribution of £102,000 from British communities in China, writes Reuter's Air correspondent quoting an announcement by the Ministry for Aircraft Production.

After it has been ascertained what emblem the community requires the squadron to carry and whether it wishes each plane to be named after some prominent personality or place, the procedure is for the Air Ministry to name the new or existing squadron in appropriate detail.

Pilots who hail from British communities in China or are closely connected with them may be posted to the squadron if they desire in order to further cement the bond of British communities in China with their own air fighting unit.

This latest squadron to arise as a result of the phenomenal outpourings of money from British and other communities abroad for more R.A.F. fighters and bombers, will join an exclusive list of similar squadrons already in the front line.

These are the Burma, Hyderabad and East India fighter squadrons which will shortly be augmented, I understand, by squadrons named from both the British and Netherlands East Indies and on the African continent from Basutoland and the Gold Coast.

Necessary token totals for a squadron of fighters or bombers are £100,000 and £300,000, respectively.

Over £9,000,000 has been contributed from all parts of the world for new R.A.F. warplanes, individually and in squadrons, in eight months since June last.

THE MASS HYSTERIA OF THE GERMAN RACE

The idea of fascism, whether of the German or Italian variety, was to crush individual opinion and to mould everyone into one pattern and the Germans, who individually appeared to be unemotional, were of all nations most subject to mass hysteria, said Major Lewis Hastings, B.B.C. commentator, when he broadcast from London on Wednesday.

"I saw a good deal of this in Germany," declared Major Hastings. "About four years ago, I was in Berlin and was asked by a friend to go to a 'Strength Through Joy' demonstration in one of the largest halls.

NOT MUCH JOY

"Under the Nazi regime, all business organisations are compelled to take part, from the managing director to the office boy.

"I went there and mixed with a crowd of 2,000 people in a vast hall smothered with Nazi flags. There was not much joy about. We had to listen to three separate speeches—harsh, threatening and a repetition of phrases borrowed from Herr Hitler. Each speech was greeted with the shout 'Sieg Heil'.

"I looked at the audience—rows and rows of round faces and flat faces of all types—all gazing rigidly to their front with their eyes glued on the speaker. And just when I thought it was all over, the band crashed out and like one man the audience sang 'Deutschland Uber Alles' and other songs with arms outstretched.

"They were just a mass of marionettes," declared Major Hastings. "What a spectacle! All those people thinking they were the chosen race by destiny. Once I watched some African tribes all worked up by their devil doctor, but those tribesmen had nothing on the Nazis! Imagine ourselves becoming slaves to this type! Can you imagine us standing to attention for Government broadcasts and regimenting our children to the state?

PROFESSIONAL LIARS

"How does this come about?" asked Major Hastings. "For the first time scientific invention had put a weapon into the hands of unscrupulous men and this dangerous weapon is the offensive of the air. I do not mean bombing raids—I mean the press and radio.

Major Hastings went on to speak of the work done by what he described as "the professional liars of Germany who went before the microphone daily and quoted an extract from a recent speech by the Nazi Press Chief: 'National Socialism does not mean tyranny. It liberates men and teaches each nation to lead its own life.'

"What do you think of that?" asked Major Hastings. "It is funny, but tragic in that eighty-million people can be made to receive these falsehoods without having an eyelid.

LIFE IN BRITAIN

Referring to life in Britain and the British Empire, Major Hastings said that the Germans had seen the British dominions claim and receive independence; they had seen Britain divest herself of central authority and they wondered at the growth of British social conscience and the distrust of exploitation. They saw in this that the Anglo-Saxon world was something different to theirs.

"It is only in England that you find this real democratic spirit," said Major Hastings, who then gave an instance of the spirit of calmness and determination which prevailed in Britain by relating an incident he had witnessed in London.

A bomb, he said, had just exploded near a coster-monger's barrow and hurled its contents all over the place. While the owner was trying to gather up the contents of the barrow, a friend passed the remark: "Hi, there Bill! Trying to gather up the pieces?" and the coster-monger had replied: "Yes, but you should see our branch in Berlin!"

"YOUR PEOPLE ARE JUST WONDERFUL"

"Your people are just wonderful," said Mr. Wendell Willkie when he watched London during an air raid yesterday, according to a message from Saigon.

Mr. Willkie said that he was deeply moved by what he saw during the raid and made this comment while he stood in the midst of a large crowd of people which had swarmed to welcome him.

"I am most moved," said Mr. Willkie. "It is wonderful how they take it."

Mr. Willkie visited another air raid shelter after which he said: "They seem so pleased to see me and yet they do not seem to ask for anything. Your people are just wonderful."

WITH ORDINARY PEOPLE

Mr. Willkie spent yesterday morning in the famous Shepherd's Market public house where he exchanged views with the ordinary people, says a London message.

Soon he got talking to everyone and the whole gathering drinks with him.

He played draughts with the landlord and after the game the latter performed a little ceremony which seemed to touch Mr. Willkie. The landlord brought out a bottle of old champagne and said, "I was going to keep for the armistice but I think this is a special occasion."

Mr. Willkie and the publican then toasted each other after which he left to have lunch with the Lord Chancellor.

AT ADMIRALTY

Mr. Willkie was received later by Mr. A. V. Alexander, First Lord at the Admiralty and was conducted round the famous map room.

Air raid sirens and gunfire were heard while the Republican leader was in Admiralty House.

AUSTRALIAN INTEREST

A good deal of interest has been aroused in Australia over Mr. Willkie's visit to Britain, states a Sydney message.

The SYDNEY MORNING HERALD stated that if Mr. Willkie came to London to see how the people of Britain were taking Herr Hitler's attempts to bomb them into submission, the magnitude of the issue and the heroic manner in which Britain was carrying on could have left no doubt in his mind.

"He has seen Britain in her finest hour," states the paper, and the vision has affected him as it has affected other visitors. No protestations from him that he has come there as an ordinary American can dispose of the fact that the British and American public are looking to the report he will carry back to the United States.

DERNA CAPTURED

wrecked planes and the twisted girders of two workshops were all that remained in Bomba after the last raid by the R.A.F.

GENERAL SURRENDERS

According to a Saigon message, an Italian general was reported to have surrendered personally to the British forces; when a bayonet charge was made in the fighting in Eritrea. On this front 1,200 prisoners have been captured.

The message added that neither the identity of the general nor the size of his command was disclosed.
